Home Maintenance
By Keishon Thomas, FACS Agent

Just like your personal health, your home’s health will decline without regular care and maintenance. Maintaining your HVAC system will help to extend the life of the system as well as avoid costly emergency repairs. With a few simple steps you can keep your HVAC system in tip top shape. Use the following tips as a guideline for your fall home maintenance evaluation.

◊ Replace air filters (this may need to be done more frequently depending on your HVAC system).

◊ Check for drafts and leaks. Check the caulking and window-stripping on your windows and doors and replace anything that is broken or cracked.

◊ Hire a professional to tune-up the heating and cooling system.

◊ Cover or remove any window air-conditioning units; seal openings.

◊ Inspect all of the heating vents and registers for any obstructions and vacuum out all of the summer dust.

◊ Check the fireplace damper and clean the chimney (you may opt to hire a professional to do this).
The 2019 Garden Conference
By Karol Kelly, ANR Agent

Each year, the Georgia Master Gardener Association, a nonprofit group comprised of Master Gardener Extension Volunteers from across the state, hosts a statewide conference. This year’s conference is scheduled for Saturday, October 19 here in Central Georgia at the Museum of Aviation Century of Flight Building in Warner Robins. For the first time, it will be open to the public.

The speaker line-up features some of the best forestry and horticulture speakers that the Southeast has to offer. University of Georgia’s Dr. Michael Dirr and Dr. Kim Coder will lead the event followed by Mary Lynne Beckley, Executive Director Georgia Tree Council, The Nichols Brothers, owners of Mr. Maple Nursery, and Mark Maher of Southern Living, who will share new plant introductions.

Besides the phenomenal speaker line-up, there will be a silent auction, garden market, and door prizes. On Friday, you can join Bibb County Master Gardeners for a tour of the Native Plant Garden at the Museum of Arts and Sciences and drop by a meet-and-greet that evening. Other free garden tours will take place on the Sunday following the conference. For information on the conference and to register, visit: https://www.georgiamastergardeners.org

Ask the Agent

Question: Here is a picture of elm leaves with bug infestation. The bugs eat the leaves in lace-like patterns then the leaves fall from the tree. This is the second summer this has happened. Last summer all the leaves fell off tree, then tree sprouted new leaves before frost. Now it is happening again.

Answer: Those appear to be elm leaf beetles. A recent post from the Georgia Forestry Commission noted that these are particularly problematic this year. I don’t think they will cause your trees to die – but, if this is your second year with the problem, I understand why you might be looking for a control option. Next spring/early summer, try something like Bayer Advanced Tree and Shrub Insect Control or a similar product containing imidacloprid. This is a systemic insecticide, meaning it can be applied to the ground around the roots and it will move throughout the tree.
State 4-H Congress
By Kari Mateling, 4-H Agent

After a year of hard work and dedication, close to 150 Georgia 4-H youths were named state winners at the Georgia 4-H State Congress held July 23-26, at the Crowne Plaza Atlanta Perimeter at Ravinia in Atlanta.

Georgia 4-H members earn an invitation to compete at State Congress through hard work and dedication. At the beginning of the year, students select an area of study, give an oral presentation before judges at their respective District Project Achievement (DPA), and participate in service and leadership events in their communities throughout the year.

The regional first place winners compete at State Congress in a variety of categories including history, horses, performing arts, and public speaking. Each student gives a 12-minute presentation before expert judges. The judges then interview students about their portfolios, which detail their research, leadership, and service projects.

Arch Smith, state leader for the Georgia 4-H program, calls State 4-H Congress "the annual capstone event" of the program’s year.

"‘Learn by Doing’ is a slogan of 4-H, and Georgia 4-H members who have been involved in the Project Achievement process competed for the honor of being named state winner last week," he said. "We recognized nearly 150 state winners at the annual banquet in 4-H educational programs, from agriculture to performing arts, to food preparation and healthy living. We are proud of these young people who have reached the highest level of attainment of over 238,000 4-H participants during the program year that ended in July."

Bibb County 4-H was represented by seven high school students at State Congress. Larry Howard achieved Master 4-H status in the Food for Fitness category after four years of hard work!

Crunchy Apple Salad

Makes 3 servings, 1 cup each

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 cup pineapple juice
- 2 cups diced apples*
- 1/4 cup chopped pecans
- 1/4 cup low-fat vanilla yogurt

*about 2 medium Red Delicious or similar apples

DIRECTIONS:

1. Pour pineapple juice into medium bowl.
2. Place diced apples in pineapple juice. Toss to coat.
3. Remove apples from pineapple juice with slotted spoon and place in medium bowl.
4. Add chopped pecans and raisins to apples.
5. Add vanilla yogurt to apple mixture. Stir well to break up clumps of raisins.

- This salad is really delicious! It’s sweet and crunchy and makes a great side dish or snack.
- Because the natural, good bacteria in the yogurt break down some of the lactose in milk, many people who have lactose intolerance can eat yogurt. It is a great source of calcium!
- Pineapple juice is sweet, and the apples taste good dipped in the juice. But did you know it also keeps the apples from turning brown? Orange juice also works.
