EXTENSION

Clinch County

As part of the Community Collaborative Rain, Hail and Snow Network, Clinch's agricultural and natural resources county agent provided data from the Extension office's rain gauge to Georgia state legislators after Tropical Storm Debby. Multiple farmers and landowners relied on Extension for damage assessments via drone after Tropical Storm Debby and Hurricane Helene to confirm loss percentages to insurance companies. As part of the program, Extension received 33 water samples, 19 plant samples, and 162 soil samples for diagnostic analysis. Value-added services, such as a fumigant meter, were provided and utilized in the county to help growers know when it was safe to plant young blueberry plants.

A healthy Georgia is a better Georgia.

University of Georgia Cooperative Extension offers programming focused on mental health, financial well-being, nutrition and everything in between. UGA Extension had 1,756,355 face-to-face contacts in 2024. Of these, 200,067 contacts addressed health and wellness topics, including rural and farm stress.

Extension is committed to helping rural Georgia farmers and families thrive. UGA Extension provides physical and mental health resources to keep rural Georgia growing stronger, especially when times are tough. Our new Behavioral Health Team provides fact sheets, trainings and a weekly blog—all to help Georgia individuals and families thrive.

Growing cities.

UGA Extension helps urban gardeners develop school gardens, community gardens and urban farms to benefit their communities. Extension works with educators to create sustainable outdoor classrooms that function as successful teaching tools. Community gardeners are supported in growing healthy food crops in small spaces while urban farmers are encouraged to apply the latest agricultural research to grow their businesses.

Committed to Georgia's youth.

Georgia's 4-H enrolled 193,518 youths across the state during the 2023-24 school year.

Get the facts.

UGA Extension publications are the go-to source for unbiased, research-based information in the state of Georgia.
