Long County

4-H leadership programs have a significant impact on youth development by fostering essential skills and personal growth. In 2024, Long County 4-H established a new Senior Board program for our highest achieving and most-involved high school 4-H'ers. This group of students has been able to successfully complete leadership modules in mentorship, connecting with others, decision making, and goal management. This new program has already been fruitful in the overall quality of programming we provide to young people because of the positive youth development being led by the Senior Board members. It will continue to play a vital role in shaping our future leaders by building confidence through gained experiences while providing the support they need to succeed.

A healthy Georgia is a better Georgia.

University of Georgia Cooperative Extension offers programming focused on mental health, financial well-being, nutrition and everything in between. UGA Extension had 1,756,355 face-to-face contacts in 2024. Of these, 200,067 contacts addressed health and wellness topics, including rural and farm stress.

Extension is committed to helping rural Georgia farmers and families thrive. UGA Extension provides physical and mental health resources to keep rural Georgia growing stronger, especially when times are tough. Our new Behavioral Health Team provides fact sheets, trainings and a weekly blog—all to help Georgia individuals and families thrive.

Growing cities.

UGA Extension helps urban gardeners develop school gardens, community gardens and urban farms to benefit their communities. Extension works with educators to create sustainable outdoor classrooms that function as successful teaching tools. Community gardeners are supported in growing healthy food crops in small spaces while urban farmers are encouraged to apply the latest agricultural research to grow their businesses.

Committed to Georgia's youth.

Georgia's 4-H enrolled 193,518 youths across the state during the 2023-24 school year.

Get the facts.

UGA Extension publications are the go-to source for unbiased, research-based information in the state of Georgia.
